

daily. The advance divisions are continuing their march northward, while some fresh troops from European Russia are coming south to relieve the worn out rear guard. The booming of guns on the rear flank was heard all morning.

Location of Rear Guard

Monday, March 20.—The Russian rear guard is at Spinsk, seventy miles north of the Tchaik River. The Japanese are slowly pursuing but are not energetically pressing the rear. Apparently Field Marshal Oyama is holding his main army at the Pass.

When the Russians evacuated The Pass March 18th, one span of the five-span bridge over the Tchaik River, which flows into the Liao River just north of the town, was destroyed by dynamite. Immediately after the last train had been dispatched northward, and as the army moved northward, the bridges of the railroad were disabled and everything in the shape of a barrier, which could not be taken.

Some desultory artillery fire was heard on the extreme right as the retreat progressed, but the Japanese appeared to be indecisive. Their pursuit lacked strength in spite of four days' rest at the Pass. They gave the Russians a chance to reform after the advance posts, they had taken, and they took up the march in an orderly fashion, pressing forward, however, at such a pace that many horses and cattle in the transport train were exhausted and left dying by the roadside.

IN FRONT OF LINEVITCH.

Detachments of Japanese Appear at Manchzy—Retreat Still in Progress.

(By Associated Press.)
ST. PETERSBURG, March 22.—A dispatch from General Linevitch, dated March 21, says: "Yesterday Japanese cavalry detachments appeared in front of one of our advance posts. Behind the cavalry were infantry, who halted at the village of Manchzy."

The retreat of the Russian army, from the latest reports, evidently is being conducted in a splendid fashion. In four days' actual marching after leaving The Pass the rear guard has fallen back nearly thirty miles and the heads of the columns are already entering Gushui Pass, forty miles further north, keeping up with the Japanese columns marching north over the Grand Trade route.

With the bridge and railroad destroyed behind the Russians, the retreat is unable to press the rear, and according to information received from the front it is believed that the bulk of Field Marshal Oyama's army is still at The Pass, the flanking column being comparatively weak.

This news may, however, prove incorrect. For two days there has been some skirmishing accompanied by artillery exchanges between the Japanese on the Grand Trade route and the Russian army screening the retreat, showing that they are in constant contact.

With the crossing of the Sungari river at Chienchiang, protected by many military men here believe that General Linevitch, while prepared to Harbin, will attempt to hold the line from Kiamuchang to Kirtu, so as to control the right Sungari valley as a source of supply for the army.

A Japanese advance to Kirtu would be equivalent to the isolation of Vladivostok.

ASSASSIN ESCAPED.
Fired Several Shots at Assistant Commissioner of Police and Wounded Him in Head.

(By Associated Press.)
ST. PETERSBURG, March 22.—At 12:45 yesterday afternoon an attempt was made to assassinate Assistant Commissioner of Police Degeroff. His assailant, who escaped, fired several shots at Degeroff and wounded him in the head.

Japs Pressing Pursuit.
(By Associated Press.)
TOKYO, March 22.—It is reported that the rear guard of the Japanese army was twenty miles north of Kalyan, about twenty miles north of The Pass, yesterday. The Japanese vanguard following closely on the Russians are retreating along the three main roadways, their destination being Kirin and Changchun.

The Marriage of William Ashe.
The universal appreciation of the press has been quickly called forth by Mrs. Humphry Ward's great new novel, "The Marriage of William Ashe."

"Its place is with the books that do not die," declares the New York Times. Here is the verdict of several other reviewers:

New York Sun.
"This is the best of Mrs. Ward's stories—the most persistently and pervasively interesting. In recent fiction we have found nothing by which we have been more impressed and entertained. Especially and enthusiastically grateful are we for Lady Kitty."

New York Globe.
"In all Mrs. Ward's long gallery of distinguished heroines, Lady Kitty most vibrates with life, and her story is likely to leave with its readers most of that fragrance of rosemary which is for remembrance."

Brooklyn Eagle.
"Mrs. Ward has never wrought to a firmer or stronger purpose or with finer literary craftsmanship than in 'The Marriage of William Ashe.'"

New York Mail.
"Undoubtedly one of the best of contemporary novels."

OUTLAW, DRINKING, REVEALED IDENTITY

(By Associated Press.)
PORT WORTH, TEX., March 22.—A special from Guthrie, Oklahoma, says: Officers left today for Santa Rosa, N. M., where Ben Craven, the Oklahoma outlaw leader and alleged murderer, is under arrest. It is claimed Craven was to Santa Rosa, and while drinking revealed his identity. He was arrested, tried and convicted of desertion, and sentenced to dismissal from the service. It is reported that an effort is being made to have influential Presbyterian and probably clergymen of other denominations endeavor to induce the President to order an investigation of the charges of immorality among naval officers, which are made by Arrowood.

QUEEN GETS HEARTY WELCOME IN PORTUGAL

(By Associated Press.)
LISBON, March 22.—Queen Alexandra, of Great Britain, was today given a hearty welcome in Portugal. Two great golden galleys, pulled by eighty rowers in medieval costumes of scarlet and blue, took out King Charles, his suite and ministers to meet the royal guest. After the lowering of the Portuguese flag, Queen Alexandra, of the steps of the royal carriage, greeted the thousands who had gathered for the occasion.
